INTRODUCTION

PUBLIUS OVIDIUS NASO was born at Sulmo in the country of the Peligni in B.C. 43, and was descended from an ancient equestrian family. He was originally intended for the law, but devoted his energies almost entirely to poetry. He studied at Athens and visited the Greek cities of the islands of the Aegean Sea and Asia Minor. On his return to Rome he figured as a court poet and enjoyed the favour of Augustus, but finally gave offence to the emperor by writing a licentious poem, and was banished to Tomi, a town on the western shore of the Euxine. He died at Tomi in A.D. 18.

His chief works (besides the poem mentioned above) were :—

1. The Metamorphoses, or Transformations, a collection of fables and legends describing the transformation of the world from the creation till the time of Julius Caesar.

2. The Heroides, or Heroines, a collection of imaginary letters from mythical women to unfaithful lovers and husbands.

3. The Fasts, or Calendar, a sort of poetical Roman calendar (unfinished).

4. The Tristia, or Sorrows.

5. Epistolae ex Ponto, or Letters from Pontus.

The last three of these works were written during his exile.

THE METRE

Quōd mārē | nōn nōvīt, quāc | nēscit Ār, iōnā | tēllūs ?

Cārīnē | cūrrentē | illē tēnēbāt āquās.

These lines form an elegiac couplet. The first line is called the Hexameter, because it consists of six feet ($\xi\xi$, μέτρον); the second line is called the Pentameter, because it consists of five feet (πέντε, μέτρον). Each foot must be either a dactyl ($- \sim \sim$) or a spondee ($--$).

Scheme for the Hexameter :—

The fifth foot in the Hexameter must be a dactyl; the sixth foot must be a spondee, though a short syllable may end the line.

Caesura 'cutting' is the term applied to the pause in or near the middle of the verse. The pause commonly occurs after the first syllable of the third foot or after the second syllable of the third foot, if that foot is a dactyl. The Caesura rarely occurs in the fourth foot.

Scheme for the Pentameter :—

In the Pentameter the caesura comes invariably after the first half-foot.

Notice that the third and fourth feet of a pentameter must be dactyls, that the first half-foot must be a long syllable, and that the second half-foot is usually long, but may sometimes be short.

A few rules are added to help in scansion :—

1. A vowel before two consonants in the same word is long. as nēscit, tēllna. Remember that h is not a consonant, and that x and z are double consonants: inhumanus, vōx.

2. A syllable, which is short by nature, e. g. ēt, becomes long by position when the next word begins with a consonant; as: sedī, ēt accipitrī, but: ēt sine, ēt nomen, etc.

3. A short vowel ending a word is not lengthened by two consonants beginning the following word, as Cynthia fraternalis.

4. A vowel coming before tr, cr, br, pr (unless long by nature) may be either long or short, as accipiter, accipitris, volūcer, volūceres, pāter, pātris, but māter, mātris.

5. A vowel before another vowel in the same word is short, unless these vowels together form a diphthong, as tūus, mēns, caplunt, fuglens.

6. Diphthongs are long, as quāe, sāepe, āudio.

7. Qu is not regarded as a separate syllable, as saepē rēquēns, caplāquē.

8. (a) If —a is short, it will probably be the ending of the Nom. Sing. Fem. or Neut. Plur. (Nom. Voc. or Acc.); if —a is long, it will probably be the ending of the Abl. Sing. Fem.

(b) Terminations in —e are short; the common exceptions are the abl. of the fifth decl. and the second Sing. Imper. Act. of the second conjugation.

(c) Terminations in —is are short; the common exceptions are the dat. and abl. plur. of the 1st and 2nd declensions and the 2nd Sing. Pres. Ind. Act. of the 4th conjugation.

(d) Terminations in —us are short; the common exceptions are the gen. sing., nom. voc. and acc. plural of the 4th declension and a few words in —ūs of the 3rd declension, as virtūs, pālūs, senectūs, incūs, iuventūs, salūs, servitūs.

(e) Terminations in —as, —es, —os are long.

(f) Most syllables ending in a consonant are short; those ending in —m are long.

9. Elision is the cutting off of a syllable at the end of a word. When a word ends in a vowel or m, and the following word begins with a vowel or h, the last syllable of the preceding word is elided or cut off, e.g. capl(que) erat, at(que) ita, stridor(em) examinis, monstr(um) horrend(um) ingens.

ARION.

1. Music hath charms.

Quod mare non novit, quae nescit Ariona tellus ?
carmine currentes ille tenebat aquas.
saepe sequens agnam lupus est a voce retentus,
saepe avidum fugiens restitit agna lupum :
5 saepe canes leporesque umbra cubnero sub ma,
et stetit in saxo proxima cerva leae:
et sine lite loquax cum Palladis alite cornix
sedit. et accipitri iuncta columba fuit.
Cynthia saepe tuis fertur, vocalis Arion,
10 tanquam fraternis obstupuisse modis.

2. Arion on board ship.

Nomen Arionium Siculus impleverat urbes, captaque erat lyricis Ausonis ora sonis.
inde domum repetens puppem conscendit Arion,
atque ita quaesitas arte ferebat opes.
5 forsitan, infelix, ventos undasque timebas :
at tibi nave tua tutius aequor erat.
namque gubernator destrecto constitit ense
ceteraque armata conscia turba manu.
quid tibi cum gladio ? dubiam rege, navita, puppem :
10 non haec sunt digitis arma tenenda tuis.
ille, metu viduus 'mortem non deprecor,' inquit
'sed liceat sumpta pauca referro lyra.'

3. How Arion was saved by a Dolphin.

Dant veniam, ridentque moram. capit ille coronam,
quae possit crines, Phoebe, decere tuos :
induerat Tyrio bis tinctam murice pallam :
reddidit icta suos pollice chorda sonos.
protinus in medias ornatus desilit undas, 5
spargitur impulsa caerulea puppis aqua.
inde—fide maius—tergo delphina recurvo
se memorant oneri supposuisse novo.
ille sedens citharamque tenet, pretiumque vehendi,
cautat et aequoreas carmine mulcet aquas. 10
Di pia facta vident : astris delphina recepit
Iuppiter et stellas iussit habere novem.

4.PROSERPINA.

Terra tribus scopulis vastum procurrit in aequor
trinacris, a positu nomen adepta loei :
grata domus Cereri : multas ea possidet urbes,
in quibus est culto fertilis Henna solo.
frigida caelestum matres Arethusa vocarat : 5
venerat ad sacras et dea flava dapes :
filia, consuetis ut erat comitata puellis,
errabat nudo per sua prata pede.
valle sub umbrosa locus est aspergine multa
uvidus ex alto desilientis aquae. 10

5. Proserpina and her companions go in search of flowers, of which there was abundance of every sort.

Tot fuerant illic, quot habet natura, colores,
pictaque dissimili flore nitebat humus.
quam simul aspexit, 'comites, accedite!' dixit
'et mecum plenos flore referte sinus!'

- 5 praeda puellares animos prolectat inanis,
et non sentitur sedulitate labor.
haec implet lento calathos e vimine nexos,
haec gremium, laxos degravat illa sinus.
illa legit calthas, huic sunt violaria curae,
10 illa papavereas subsecat ungue comas:
plurima lecta rosa est; sunt et sine nomine flores;
ipsa crocos tenues liliaque alba legit.

6. Proserpina is carried off by the God of the lower world.

- Carpendi studio paulatim longius itur,
et dominam casu nulla secuta comes.
hanc videt et visam patruus velociter aufert,
regnaque caeruleis in sua portat equis.
5 illa quidem clamabat 'io, carissima mater,
auferor!' ipsa suos abscederatque sinus:
panditur interea Diti via, namque diurnum
lumen inassueti vix patiuntur equi.
at chorus aequalis, cumulatae flore ministrae,
10 'Persephone,' clamant 'ad tua dona veni!'
ut clamata silet, montes ululatibus implent,
et feriunt maestae pectora nuda manus.

7. Ceres seeks her daughter in vain.

Attonita est plangore Ceres—modo venerat Hennam—
nec mora, 'me miseram ! filia' dixit 'ubi es ?'
nt vitulo mugit sua mater ab ubere rpto,
et quacrit foetus per nemus omne suos :
sic dea : nec retinet gemitus et concita cursu 5
fertur et o campis incipit, Henna, tuis :
inde pnellaris nacta est vestigia plantae,
et pressam noto pondere vidit humum.
quacumque ingreditur, miseris loca cuncta querellis
implet, ut amissum cum gemit ales Ityr : 10
perque vices modo 'Persephone' modo 'filia !' clamat, clamat et alternis nomen utrumque ciet :
sed neque Persephone Cererem, nec filia matrem audit, et alternis nomen utrumque perit.

HOW TARQUINIUS SUPERBUS
TOOK GABII BY STRATAGEM.8. Sextus deceives the men of Gabii by pretending that his father has ill-treated him.

Ultima Tarquinius Romanae gentis habebat
regna, vir iniustus, fortis ad arma tamen.
ceperat hic alias, alias everterat urbes,
et Gabios turpi fecerat arte suos.
namque trium minimus, proles manifesta Superbi, 5
in medios hostes nocte silente venit.
nudarant gladios, 'occidite' dixit 'inermem !'
hoc cupiant fratres Tarquiniusque pater,

- qui mea crudeli laceravit verbera terga.'
10 (dicere ut hoc posset, verbera passus erat.)
luna fuit: spectant iuvenem, gladiosque recondunt, tergaque deducta veste notata vident.

9. How Sextus acted on the hint given him by his father.

- Flent quoque, et ut secum tueatur bella, precantur;
callidus ignaris annuit ille viris.
iamque potens, misso genitorem appellat amico,
perdendi Gabios quod sibi monstret iter.
5 hortus odoratis suberat cultissimus herbis,
sectus humum rivo lene sonantis aquae.
illic Tarquinius mandata latentia nati
accipit, et virga lilia summa metit.
nuntius ut rediit, decussaue lilia dixit,
10 filius 'agnosco iussa parentis' ait.
nec mora, principibus caesis ex urbe Gabina,
traduntur ducibus moenia nuda suis.

BACCHUS, THE DISCOVERER OF HONEY.

10. The bees are attracted by the sound of the cymbals which the followers of Bacchus were carrying.

- Iamque erat ad Rhodopen Pangaeaque florida ventum:
aeriferae comitum concrepuere manus.
ecce novae coeunt volueres tinnitibus actae,
quosque movent sonitus aera, sequuntur apes.

colligit errantes et in arbore claudit inani 5
Liber, et inventi praemia mellis habet.
ut Satyri levisque senex tetigere sorem,
quaerebant flavos per nemus omne favos.
audit in excelsa stridorem examinis ulmo,
aspicit et ceras dissimulatque senex. 10

11. Silenus and the hornets.

Utque piger pandi tergo residebat aselli,
applicat hunc ulmo corticibusque cavis:
constitit ipse super ramoso stipite nixus,
atque avide trunco condita mella petit.
milia crabronum coeunt et vertice nudo 5
spicula defigunt, oraque sima notant:
ille cedit praecipit et calce feritur aselli,
inelamatque suos auxiliumque rogat:
concurrunt Satyri, turgentiaque ora parentis
rident: percusso claudicat ille genu. 10

THE FABII.

12. The Fabii undertake the burden of the war against the Etruscans. They march into Etruria and harry the enemy from the camp, which they had made near the river Cremera.

Una domus vires et onus suscepit Urbis:
sumunt gentiles arma professa manns.
egreditur castris miles generosus ab isdem,
cuius dux fieri quilibet aptus erat.

- 5 ut celeri passu Cremeram tetigere rapacem—
turbidus hibernis ille fluebat aquis—
castra loco ponunt : dstrictis ensibus ipsi Tyrrenum valido Marte per agmen eunt :
non aliter quam cum Libyca de rupe leones 10 invadunt sparsos lata per arva greges.
diffigiunt hostes inhonestaque volnera tergo
accipiunt : Tusco sanguine terra rubet.

13. The enemy lay an ambush for the Fabii.

- Sic iterum, sic saepe cadunt. ubi vincere aperto
non datur, insidias armaque caeca parant.
campus erat, campi clauderant ultima colles,
silvaeque montanas oculere apta feras.
5 in medio paucos armentaue rara relinquunt :
cetera virgultis abdita turba latet.
ecce, velut torrens undis pluvialibus auctus
aut nive, quae zephyro victa tepente fluit,
per sata perque vias fortur nec, ut ante solebat, 10 riparum clausas margine finit aquas :
sic Fabii latis vallem discursibus implent,
quosque vident, sternunt ; nec metus alter inest.
quo ruitis, generosa domus ? male creditis hosti.
simplex nobilitas, perfida tela cave.

14. The whole clan is destroyed with the exception of one boy.

Fraude perit virtus : in apertos undique campos
prosiliunt hostes et latus omne tenent. ; ;

quid faciant pauci contra tot milia fortes ?
 quidve, quod in misero tempore restet, habent ?
 sicut aper, silvis longe Laurentibus aetus, 5
 fulmineo celeres dissipat ore canes ;
 mox tamen ipse perit : sic non moriuntur inulti,
 volneraque alterna. Tantque feruntque manu.
 una dies Fabios ad bellum miserat omnes :
 ad bellum missos perdidit una dies. 10.
 ut tamen Herculeae superessent semina gentis,
 ereditibile est ipsos consuluisse deos.
 nam puer impubes et adhuc non utilis armis
 unus de Fabia gente relictus erat :
 scilicet ut posses olim tu, Maxime, nasci, 15
 cui res enuctando restituenda foret.

CEPHALUS AND PROCRIS.

15. A description of the spot where Cephalus used to rest when heated with the chase.

Est prope purpureos colles florentis Hymetti fons sacer et viridi caespite, mollis humus :
 silva nemus non alta facit : tegit arbitus herbam :
 ros maris et lauri nigraque myrtus olent :
 nec densum, foliis buxum fragilesque myricae, 5
 nec lentus eytisi cultaque pinus apert :
 lenibus impulsae zephyris aurasque salubri
 tot perperam frondes horumque summa tremunt ;
 grata quies Cephalo : famulis equibusque relictis
 lassus in hac illevis saepe resedit humo. 10

16. Procris believes Cephalus to be unfaithful to her.

- ‘Quae quae in eos relevēs acstus,’ cāntare solebat, ‘accipiēda sinu, mōbilis aūra, veni.’
coniūgis ad timidas aliquis male sedūlus aures auditos mēmori detulit ore sonos.
- 5 Procris ut accepit nōmēn, quasi pēllicis, Aurāe, excidit et subito muta dolore fuit:
palluit, ut serae lectus de vīse racemis
pālescunt frōides quas nova laesit hiems.
ut rediit animus, tēmes a pectore vēstes
- 10 rumpit et indignas sauciat ungue genas.

17. She hides herself near the spot where Cephalus' resting-place was.

- Nec mora: per mēdiās passis furibunda capillis
evolat, ut thyrsos conceita Baccha, vias.
ut prope perventum est, cōmites in valle relinquit:
ipsa nemus tacito clam pede fortis init.
- 5 quid tibi mentis erat, cum sic male sana lateres,
Procri? quis attoniti pectoris ardor erat?
iamque dies medius tenues contraxerat umbras,
inque pari spatio vesper et ortus erant:
ecce redit Cephalus silvis, Cyllenia proles,
- 10 oraque fontana fervida spargit aqua.
auxia, Procri, lates: solitas iacet ille per herbas,
et ‘Zephyri molles, Auraque’ dixit ‘ades.’
ut patuit miserac incundus nominis error;
et mens et rediit verus in ora color.

18. Cephalus kills his wife mistaking her for a doe.

Surgit et oppositas agitato corpore frondes
 movit in amplexus uxor itura viri.
 ille feram sonuisse ratas, iuveniliter artus
 corripit; in dextra tela fuere manu.
 quid facis, infelix? non est fera, supprime tela ' 5
 me miserum! iaculo fixa puella tuo est.
 'ei mihi!' conelamat 'fixisti pectus amicum:
 hic locus a Cephalo volnera semper habet:
 ante diem morior, sed nulla pellicae laesa:
 hoc faciet positae te mihi, terra, leven. 10
 nomine suspectas iam spiritus exit in auras:
 labor, io, cara lumina cõde manu!
 dixit, et incauto paulatim pectore lapsus
 excipitur miseri spiritus ore viri.

ARIADNE.19. Ariadne deserted on the shores of Naxos.

Innotis in ignotis amens errabat harenis,
 quæ brevis æquoreis Dia feritur aquis:
 utque erat e somno tunica velata recincta,
 nulla pedem, croceas inreligata comas, Thesæa crudelem surdas clamabat ad undas, 5
 indigno teneras imbre rigante genas:
 clamabat flebatque simul: sed utrumque decebat:
 non facta est lacrimis turpior illa suis.
 itaque iterum tundens mollissima pectora palmis
 'perfidu' ille abiit: quid mihi fiet?' ait. 10

20. Bacchus and his train arrive upon the scene.

'Quid mihi fiet?' ait. sonuerunt cymbala toto
litore, et attonita tympana pulsa manu:
excidit illa metu rupitque novissima verba:
nullus in exanimi corpore sanguis erat.
5 ecce Mima^llonides sparsis in terga capillis:
ecce leves Satyri, praevia turba dei:
ebrius ecce senex pando Silennis asello
vix sedet et pressas continet ante inbas:
dum sequitur Bacchas, Bacchae finguntque petantque, 10 quadrupedem ferula dum malus urget eques,
in caput aurito cecidit delapsus asello:
clamarunt Satyri 'surge age, surge pater.'

21. Ariadne becomes the wife of Bacchus.

Iam deus in curru, quem summum texerat uvis,
tigribus adiunctis aurea lora dabat:
et color et Theseus et vox abiere puellae:
terque fugam petiit, terque retenta metu est:
5 horruit, ut steriles agitat quas ventus aristas,
ut levis in madida canna palide tremit:
cui deus 'en, adsum tibi cura fidelior' inquit:
'pone metum: Bacchi, Gnosias, uxor eris:
munus habet caelum: caelo spectabere sidus:
10 saepe reget dubiam Cressa Corona ratem.'
dixit et e curru, ne tigres illa timeret,
desilit. imposito cessit harena pedi:
implicitamque sinu—neque enim pugnare valebat—
abstulit. in facili est omnia posse deo.

THE STORY OF DAEDALUS.

22. Daedalus asks for leave to return home,
and Minos refuses to let him go.

Daedalus ut clausit conceptum crimine matris semibovemque virum, semivirumque bovem :
'sit modus exilio,' dixit 'iustissime Minos :
accipiat cineres, terra paterna meos.
et quoniam in patria, fatis agitatus iniquis, 5
vivere non potui, sit mihi posse mori.
da redditum puero, senis est si gratia vilis :
si non vis puero parcere, parce seni.'
dixerat haec : sed et haec, et multo plura licebat 10
dicere : regressus non dabat ille viro.

23. Daedalus makes a flying machine.

Quod simul ac sensit ; 'Nunc, O nunc, Daedale,' dixit
'materiam, qua sis ingeniosus, habes.
possidet en terras, et possidet aequora Minos :
nec tellus nostrae, nec patet unda, fugae.
'restat iter caelo : caelo tentabimus ire : 5
da veniam coepto, Iuppiter alte, meo.'
ingenium mala saepe movent. quis crederet unquam
aëriae hominem carpere posse vias ?
remigium volneres disponit in ordine pennas
et leve per lini vincla nequit opus ; 10
imaque pars ceris astringitur igne solutis :
finitaque novae iam labor artis erat.

24. The work is finished, and Daedalus gives his son Icarus advice as to the course he must steer.

Tractabat ceramque puer pennasque renidens ;
 nescius hacc humeris arma parata suis.
 cui pater 'his' inquit 'patria est adeunda carinis ;
 hac nobis Minos effugiendus opo.
 5 mē pennis sectare datis : ego praeuius ibo :
 sit tua cura sequi ; me ducē, tutus eris.
 nam siue aetherae vicino sole per auras
 ihimus, impatiens cera calorū erit ;
 siue humiles propiore fretō iactabimus alas,
 10 mobilis aequoreis penna madescet aquis.
 inter utrumque vola : ventos quoque, vates, timeto ;
 quaque ferent auras, vela secunda dato.'

25. Then they set off on their perilous voyage.

Dum monet, aptat opus puero, monstratque moveri, orudit infirmas ut sua mater aves.
 inde sibi factas humeris accommodat alas ;
 perque novum timide corpora librat iter.
 5 iamque volaturus parvo dedit oscula nato :
 nec patriae lacrimas continuere genae.
 iamque novum delectat iter : positoque timore,
 Icarus audaci fortius arte volat.
 iam Samos a laeva fuerant Naxosque relictæ,
 10 et Paros, et Clario Delos amata deo :
 quum puer, incautis nimium temerarius ausis,
 altius egit iter descruitque ducem.

26. Icarus pays the penalty of his rashness.

Vincla labant et cera deo propiore liquecit,
 nec tenues ventos brachia mota tenent.
 territus e summo despexit in aequora caelo.
 nox oculis pavido venit oborta metu.
 tabnerant ceræ : nidos quatit ille laertos, 5
 et trepidat, nec, quo sustineatur, habet.
 decidit atque cadens 'pater, O pater, auferor' inquit :
 clausurunt virides ora loquentis aquae.
 at pater infelix, nec iam pater 'Icare' clamat,
 'Icare' clamat 'ubi es ? quove sub axe volas ?' 10
 'Icare' clamabat : pennas aspexit in undis :
 ossa tegit tellus : aequora nomen habent.

SPRING.27. Why does not the new year begin in Spring ?

Dic, age, frigoribus quare novus incipit annus,
 qui melius per ver incipiendus erat ?
 omnia tunc florent, tunc est nova temporis actas :
 et nova de gravido palmitē gemma tūet :
 et modo formatis operitur frondibus arbor : 5
 prodit et in summum seminis herba solum :
 et tepidum volucres concentibus aëra mulcent.
 ludit et in pratis luxuriatque pecus.
 tum blandi soles, ignotaque prodit hirundo et intem celsa sub trabe figit opus : 10
 tum pautur cultus ager et renovatur aratro.
 haec anni novitas iure vocanda fuit.

28. THE GOLDEN AGE.

- Quam bene Saturno vivebant rege, priusquam
tellus in longas est patefacta vias !
nondum caeruleas pinus contempserat undas,
effusum ventis prae bueratque sinum.
5 nec vagus, ignotis repetens compendia terris,
presserat externa navita merce ratem.
illo non validus subiit iuga tempore taurus ;
non domito frenos ore momordit equus ;
non domus ulla fores habuit ; non fixus in agris,
10 qui regeret certis finibus arva, lapis.
• ipsae mella dabant quercus, ultroque ferebant
obvia securis ubera lactis oves.
non acies, non ira fuit, non bella ; neque ense
immiti saevus duxerat arte faber.
15 nunc Iove sub domino caedes, nunc volnera semper ;
nunc mare, nunc leti multa reperta via est.

LUCRETIA.29. Sextus entertains the royal princes at a supper.

- Cingitur interea Romanis Ardea signis,
et patitur lentas obsidione moras :
dum vacat, et metuunt hostes committere pugnam,
luditur in castris, otia miles agit.
5 Tarquinius iuvenis socios dapibusque meroque
accipit : ex illis rege creatus ait :
'dum nos difficilis pigro tenet Ardea bello,
nec sinit ad patrios arma referre deos ;

ecquid in officio torus est socialis ? et ecquid
coniugibus nostris mutua cura sumus ?' 10
quisque suam laudat : studiis certamina crescent,
et fervent multo linguaque corque mero.

30. They ride to Rome to surprise their wives.

Surgit cui dederat clarum Collatia nomen :
'non opus est verbis : credite rebus !' ait :
'nox superest : tollamur equis Urbemque petamus !'
dicta placent : frenis impediuntur equi.
pertulerant dominos : regalia protinus illi 5
tectis petunt : custos in fore nullus erat.
ecce nuntius regis fuis per colla coronis
inveniunt posito pervigilare mero.
inde cito passu petitur Lucretia : nebat,
ante torum calathi lanaque mollis erat : 10
lumen ad exiguum familiae data pensa trahebant :
inter quas teuni sic ait ipsa sono.

31. They find Lucretia weaving a cloak for her husband.

'Mittenda est domino—nunc, nunc properate, puellae!—
quam primum nostra facta lacerna manu.
quid tamen auditis ? nam plura audire potestis :
quantum de bello dicitur esse super ?
postmodo victa cades : melioribus, Ardea, restas, 5
improba, quae nostros cogis abesse viros !
sint tantum reduces ! sed enim temerarius ille
est mens. et stricto quolibet ense ruit.

mens abit et morior quotiens pugnantis imago
10 me subit, et gelidum pectora frigus habet.
desinit in lacrimas intentaque fila remittit,
in gremio vultum deposuitque suum :
hoc ipsum decuit : lacrimae decuere pudicae,
et facies animo dignaque parque fuit.
15 ' pone metum, venio ! ' coniunx ait : illa revixit,
deque viri collo dulce pendit onus.

32. The expulsion of the Tarquins from Rome.

' False Sextus that wrought the deed of shame.'
Iamque erat orta dies : passis sedet illa capillis,
ut solet ad nati mater itura rogem :
grandaevumque patrem fido cum coniuge castris
evocat ; et posita venit uterque moras :
5 utque vident habitum, quae luctus causa requirunt :
cui paret exsequias, quove sit icta malo.
illa diu reticet, pudibundaque celat amictu
ora ; fluunt lacrimae more perennis aquae.
hinc pater, hinc coniunx lacrimas solantur, et orant,
10 indicet : et caeco flentque paventque metu.
ter conata loqui, ter destitit ; ausaque quarto,
non oculos ideo sustulit illa suos.

33. At last she tells them of her dishonour and then stabs herself.

' Hoc quoque Tarquinio debebimus ? eloquar,' inquit
' eloquar infelix dedecus ipsa meum.'
quaeque potest, narrat : restabant ultima : flevit,
et matronales erubere genae.

dant veniam facto genitor coniunxque coactae :
 'quam' dixit 'veniam vos datis, ipsa nego ;'
 nec mora. relato figit sua pectora ferro,
 et cadit in patrios sanguinolenta pedes.
 tunc quoque, iam moriens, ne non procumbat honeste.
 respicit ; hæc etiam cura cadentis erat.
 ecce super corpus communia damna gementes,
 obliiti decoris, virque paterque iacent.

34. Brutus snatches up the dagger and swears to avenge her. The expulsion of the family of Tarquinius.

Brutus adest, tandemque animo sua nomina fallit.
 fixaque semivivum corpore tela rapit ;
 stillantemque teneus generoso sanguine cultum
 edidit invidios oro minante sonos :
 'per tibi ego hunc iuro fortem castumque cruentum,
 perque tuos Maues, qui mihi numen erunt, Tarquinium profuga poenas cum stirpe daturum :
 iam satis est virtus dissimulata diu.'
 illa læuens ad verba oculos siue lumine movit,
 visaque concussa dicta probare roma.
 feritur in exsequiis animi matrona virilis,
 et cecum lærinas invidiamque trahit.
 voluit inane putet. Brutus clamore Quirites convocat, et regis facta nefanda refert.
 Tarquinius cum prole fugit : capit annua consul
 iura. licet regni illa suprema fuit.

35. The frogs ask for a King.

- Ranæ, vagantes liberis paludibus,
clamore magno regem petiere ab Iove,
qui dissolutos mores vi compesceret.
pater deorum risit, atque illis dedit
5 parvum tigillum, missum quod subito vadis
motu sonoque terruit pavidum genus.
hoc mersum limo quum lateret diutius,
forte una tacite profert e stagno caput,
et explorato rege cunctas evocat.
10 illae, timore posito, certatim adnatant,
lignumque supra turba petulans insilit :
quod cum inquinassent omni contumelia,
alium rogantes regem misere ad Iovem ;
inutilis quoniam esset qui fuerat datus.
15 tum misit illis hydrum, qui dente aspero
corripere coepit singulas : frustra necem ..
fugitant inertes : vocem praecludit metus.

36. Hercules is entertained by Chiron. He wounds the Centaur with a poisoned arrow.

- Venerat Alcides, exacta parte laborum, iussaue restabant ultima paene viro.
excipit hospitio iuvenem Philyreius heros,
et causam adventus hic rogat, ille docet.
5 perspicit interea clavam spoliūque leonis :
'virque' ait 'his armis, armaque digna viro.'
nec se, quin horrens auderent tangere setis
vellus, Achilleae continuere manus.

dumque senex tractat squalentia tela venenis,
 .excidit et laevo fixa sagitta pede est. 10
 ingomuit Chiron traxitque e vulnere ferrum ;
 et gemit Alcides Haemoniusque puer.

37. Chiron is translated to the heavens and becomes a constellation.

Ipsæ tamē lectas Pagasæis collibus herbas temperat; et varia vulnèra mulcet opo.
 virus edax superabat opem, penitusque recepta
 ossibus et toto corpore pestis erat.
 sanguine Centauri Lernaee sanguis Echidnae 5
 mixtus ad auxiliū tempora nulla dabant.
 stabat, ut ante patrem, lacrimis perfusus Achilles ;
 (sic flendus Pelens, si moreretur, erat)
 oscula sæpe dedit ; dixit quoque sæpe iacenti :
 'vive, precor, nec me, care, relinque, pater. 10
 nona dies aderat, cum tu, iustissime Chiron,
 bis septem stellis corpora cinctus eras.

38. Borrowed Plumes.

Tūmēns inani graculus sup̄b̄ia
 pennas pavoni, quæ deciderant, sustulit
 seque exornavit : dēiude, contemnens suos, formoso se pavonum immiscuit gregi.
 illi impudenti pennas eripiunt avi 5
 fugantque rostris. male mulcatus graculus redire maerens coepit ad proprium genus :
 a quo repulsus tristē sustinuit notam.

- tum quidam ex illis quos prius despexerat,
10 'contentus nostris si fuisses sedibus,
et quod natura dederat voluisses pati,
nec illam expertus esses contumeliam,
nec hanc repulsam tua sentiret calamitas.'

39. The Wolf and the Lamb.

- Ad rivum eundem lupus et agnus venerant
siti compulsi: superior stabat lupus,
longeque inferior agnus: tunc fauce improba
latro incitatus iurgii causam intulit.
5 'cur' inquit 'turbulentam mihi fecisti aquam
istam bibenti?' laudiger contra timens,
'qui possum, quaeso, facere quod quereris, lupo?
a te decurrit ad meos haustus liquor.'
repulsus ille veritatis viribus,
10 'autem hos sex menses male' ait 'dixisti mihi.'
respondit agnus 'equidem natus non eram.'
'pater hercule tuus' inquit 'maledixit mihi:
atque ita correptum lacerat iniusta nece.

NOTES

1. ARION was a Lesbian who lived for many years of his life at the court of Periander, tyrant of Corinth. He was famed for his sweet singing. Even birds and beasts were charmed by the strains of his lyre. In the course of time Arion visited the cities of Sicily and Magna Graecia, and wherever he went, he won many prizes in musical contests. When he was returning by ship with his wealth to Corinth, the sailors determined to murder him. Arion soon became aware of their purpose, but he only begged for leave to play his lyre once again. Then, arrayed in his minstrel's robe and crown, he sang one of his songs. At the end of the song he leaped into the sea, where a dolphin, charmed by the music, took Arion upon its back and bore him safely to land. From Taenarus, where he landed, he returned to Corinth and told his story to Periander. When the sailors arrived at Corinth, they received the punishment which they richly deserved. The dolphin's reward was a place among the constellations.

1. quod, interrog. adjective.

non novit, 'does not know.' Novi is perf. in form but not in meaning, cf. coepi, mementi, edixi. Arionia, Greek arion.

2 tenebat, 'used to stop.'

3 a voce. In prose the preposition would be omitted; a or ab is used with the person who does a thing. Here, a voce, is almost equivalent to ab Arione, i.e. 'by the singer.'

7 Palladis alite. The owl was sacred to Pallas, the goddess of wisdom, whom the Greeks called Pallas, and the Romans Minerva.

9 Cynthia, or Diana, was the goddess of light (Diana contains the same root as lucis) and represented the moon. She was the sister of Apollo, the god of music. Ovid says that Cynthia often mistook Arion's playing for her brother's. fertur, 'is said,' Arion, vocative.

2. 2 capta, 'captivated,' 'charmed.'

Ausonis, an adject.: 'of Ausonia,' an old name for the southern part of Italy.

- 3 inde, i.e. from Ausonia.

puppem conscendit, 'embarked upon a ship.'

- 4 ita, i.e. by ship.

- 6 nave, abl. of comparison.

8 See rules for Scansion, 8 (a), for the length of the final syllables in this line.

- 9 quid tibi, sc. est.

dubiam, i.e. which would not know what course to take if deserted by the helmsman.

- 10 arma: may be used of weapons or the tackling of a ship.

- 11 metu. The ablative of separation is used with some adjectives, as liber, viduus, orbis.

- 12 liceat, sc. mihi, 'let it be allowed to me,' 'let me be allowed.'

sumpta. The English idiom prefers a finite verb, 'to take up my lyre and sing (referre).

pauca, acc. pl. neuter.

3. 2 quae possit, consecutive, 'such as can.' Phoebe, i.e. Apollo.

3 Tyrio murice. The best crimson, or purple, dye came from Tyre, and was obtained from the murex, a small shell-fish. bis: the finest cloth was twice dipped in the dye.

- 4 suos, 'its well-known notes.'

- 7 fide maius, 'a thing beyond belief,' lit. 'greater than belief,' abl. of comparison.

delphina, Greek acc. Cf. Ariona, x. i.

- 8 se, obj. of supposuisse.

2—contd.

9 The first -que=both.
pretiumque vehendi, 'and as a reward for the dolphin's carrying him.' The phrase is in apposition to the object of causat, i.e. carmen or cantum, understood.

11 vident, 'regard with favour.'

astris, abl. 'among the stars.' In prose, recipere, 'to receive,' can be used with the abl. or with in and the acc, e.g. urbe recipere, in civitatem recipere. The meaning of the last two lines is that the dolphin became a constellation, the number of the stars in the constellation being seven.

4. Proserpine, or Persephone, was the daughter of Ceres, the goddess of corn. Once Ceres was invited to a banquet by Arethusa, and during her mother's absence Proserpine wandered through the fields with her companions in search of flowers. There she was seen by Pluto (or Dis), the god of the lower world, and was carried away by him to the realms of Hades. Ceres, half-mad with grief, sought her daughter in vain.

1 terra, i.e. Sicily. trinacris, 'of the three capes,' Pelorium, Pachynum and Lilybæum. The derivation of the word is τρεῖς (three), ἄκρα (promontories). The shape of Sicily is triangular.

2 positu, 'shape.'

3 grata, sc. est. Sicily was a pleasant abode to Ceres because the island was famous for its production of corn.

ea. The pronoun is required on account of the change of subject.

5 Arethusa, a water-nymph; hence the epithet (frigida). A fountain near Syracuse was named after her.

matres caelestium, i.e. the elder goddesses.

vocaret=vocaverat, 'had invited.'

6 et, 'also,' 'with the others. dea flava, i.e. Ceres, because she was goddess of the golden corn.

7 ut erat, 'as she ever was'; comitata, from comito, not from comitor.

10 ex alto, 'from on high.' The neut. of the adj. altus is here used as a noun.

5. 1 fuerant, 'had ever been.'
 3 quam, sc. hunc. Simul=simul atque.
 6 sedulitate, abl. of cause.
 8 gremium, lap; sinus, the loose folds of the dress.
 9 curae, dat. of purpose (predicative dat.). This dative is used with abstract words and can be qualified only by simple adjectives of quantity, as, magnus. huic is the dat. of the recipient, 'to this one.'
 6. 1 longius itur, sc. ab illa, 'she goes farther and farther.'
itur, impersonal passive.
 2 secuta, sc. est.
 3 patruus. Pluto was the brother of Jupiter, the father of Proserpine.
 4 caeruleis, 'dark'; regna, the realms of Hades.
 6 ipsa, Proserpine, 'with her own hands.' The natural place for -que is after ipsa. This position is permissible when the second half of the pentameter begins with a word of four syllables.
 9 aequalis, 'of companions of her own age.' Almistrac, in apposition to chorus.
 10 dona, i.e. gifts of flowers.
 11 clamata, 'called for.' Clamare can take an acc. of the person. See 19, 5.
 7. 1 Hennam, motion to. The preposition is omitted with names of towns when place where, whither, or whence is expressed.
 2 me miseram, acc. of exclamation.
 3 sua mater, 'its own mother.' Suus is not generally used in the nominative, because it refers to the subject, and here mater is the subject.
 5 sic dea, i.e. ungit et quaerit.
et, 'but.'
 6 fertur, with cursu, 'rushes wildly on.'
 7 inde, from Ilium.
 10 ales, the nightingale. The story is that Procne or Progne, in revenge for the cruelty of her husband Tereus, killed her own son Itys, and served up the flesh of the child at a banquet before

7— . . .

Tereus, Procne and her sister, Philomela, who had taken part in the murder of Itys, were pursued by Tereus. They were all changed into birds; Tereus became a hawk, Procne a swallow, and Philomela a nightingale; or, according to some, Philomela became a swallow and Procne a nightingale.

11 per vices, 'in turn.'12 alternis, alternately; sc. versibus.13 perit, 'dies away.'

8. Tarquinius Superbus, the last king of Rome, had failed to take Galii by force, and so had recourse to stratagem. He sent to Gabii his son, Sextus, who pretended that he had been ill-treated by his father, and showed the marks of stripes on his back. Sextus easily deceived the men of Gabii, and was at once given the command of the army. Not knowing what the next step ought to be, Sextus sent a messenger to receive instructions from his father. Tarquinius made no reply, but, as he walked in the garden, he cut off the heads of the tallest poppies with his scythe. Sextus took the hint, and put to death or banished the leading citizens of Galii. Then Tarquinius had no difficulty in taking the city.

1 ultima regna. Tarquinius was the last king of Rome.2 fortis ad arma, 'brave in war.'3 hic, 'he.'

5 minimus, sc. natus, 'the youngest,' i.e. Sextus. The other sons of Tarquinius were called Titus and Aruns.

proles manifesta superbi, 'true son of Superbus,' i.e. he was like his father in character; he was as arrogant as Tarquinius Superbus.

7 nudarant = nu la: erant.inermem, agrees with me understood.8 cupiant, 'would desire.'9. 1 ut secum tueatur, 'to conduct with them.'3 appellat, 'calls on his father to tell him.'

4 quod iter monstret, 'what way he would suggest.' Monstret, subj., because of the indirect question depending on monstret.

9—contd.

5 herbis, abl. qualifying cultissimus.

6 sectus humum. Here the past participle retains the direct object (Rohy, § 1126 and § 1102), 'having the ground intersected.' Lene, acc. neuter of the adj. lenis = leniter; cf. humida de guttis lene sonantis aquae.

7 latentia, 'secret.'

8 virga, abl. of instrument.

9 decussaque lilia dixit, 'and told him of the cutting-off of the heads of the lilies.' Decussa lilia, a participial phrase which must be rendered in English by two nouns.

11 nec mora, used adverbially, 'without delay,' for nec mora fuit.

12 ducibus, abl. of separation, goes with nuda. For the abl., cf. metu vulnus, 2, 11.

10. Bacchus, or Liber, was travelling through Thrace, attended by a band of satyrs clashing cymbals and dancing. A swarm of bees, attracted by the noise of the cymbals, followed the revellers. Bacchus placed the bees in a hollow tree, in which a hive of honey was formed. The satyrs and the old man Silenus were delighted with the taste of the honey and set off in search of more. Silenus soon found what he thought was a hive, and endeavoured to hide it from his companions. As he could not reach the spot from the ground, he stood up on the back of his ass, and learned too late that he had disturbed a nest of hornets. Then he was punished for his greediness, for he was not only stung by the hornets, but was kicked by the ass when he fell to the ground.

1 erat ventum, 'he (Bacchus) had come,' lit. 'it had been come;' cf. longius itur, 6, 1.

Rhodopea Pangaea, the names of two mountains in Thrace.

2 aeriferae, i.e. bearing cymbals which were made of brass.

3 novae, 'strange,' 'of a new sort.'

volucres, 'winged creatures,' the bees. The word, which is derived from volare, 'to fly,' is generally applied to birds.

10—contd.

3 tinnitibus actae, cf. the practice, which is not unknown in some parts of England, of heating pans and kettles to make bees swarm.

4 sonitus must be taken out of the relative clause, as it is properly the obj. of sequuntur. Movent, 'give forth.'

6 inventi praemia mellis may be taken in two ways: (1) the reward consisting of the honey which he has found, and (2) the reward for finding the honey; cf. decussa lilia dixit, 9, 9. In the latter case, the reward would be the honey-cakes, which were henceforth offered in commemoration of the discovery, at the festival of Bacchus.

7 levis, 'smooth,' i.e. 'bald.' Do not confuse levis and levis. Levis senex, this bald-headed old man is Silenus, the constant companion of Bacchus. He is described as being a festive old man with a bald head and a snub nose. He always carried a wine-bag, which he resembled in shape, and was generally in a state of intoxication. The satyrs are represented with bristly hair and pointed ears, with two small horns on the top of the forehead, and with a tail like that of a horse or goat,

10 senex is the subject of audit, aspicit, dissimulat.

dissimulat. Dissimulare is to pretend that something is not what it is; simulare is to pretend that something is what it is not: cf. quod non est, simulo, dissimuloque quod est.

11. 1 aselli. Silenus generally rode on an ass, as he could not always trust his own legs. Pandi tergo aselli = pando tergo aselli.

2 ulmo, corticibus, dative.

3 super, adv.

nixus. Nitor has two forms in the perfect: nixus (lean), nisus (strive).

4 avide. Some adverbs in -e are exceptions to the rule that final e is short. Rules for scansion, 8 (6).

trunco, abl. of place, as vertice nudo in next line.

12. The Fabii were among the most powerful of the patrician families in Rome, but had quarrelled with their own order. Therefore, seeing that they could not live at peace in Rome, they determined to leave the city, and took upon themselves the whole burden of the war against the people of Veii, a town in Etruria. The whole clan, 306 men in all, marched out of Rome amidst the applause of the multitude. They established a fortified camp on the Cremera, and proceeded to ravage the Veientine territory. The efforts made by the Veientes to dislodge the enemy proved unavailing, and so they laid an ambush for the Fabii and surrounded them. The whole clan was destroyed, and only one boy, who had been left behind in Rome, survived. This boy was the ancestor of Fabius Maximus, who saved Rome in the second Punic war.

1 una domus, 'one family.' vires, 'the power.'

onus. At this period Rome was burdened by petty wars with her neighbours, the Etruscans on the one hand, and the Volscians and Aequians on the other. Urbis, Rome.

2 gentiles, of one gens or family.

arma professa, 'the promised arms,' 'the arms which they had volunteered'; professa is passive, although profiteor is deponent.

3 miles, used collectively, 'the soldiers.'

4 quis=quibus.

5 Cremeram, a tributary of the Tiber.

6 This line explains the epithet rapacem.

7 loco, 'in a convenient spot,'=in loco.

8 Marte. Mars is the god of war, but his name is often used for that of which he is the personification; cf. aequo Marte pugnatum est.

11 tergo, 'in the back.' Why inhonesta?

13. 1 aperte, in the open field.

2 arma caeca, 'ambuscades.'

3 campi ultima, 'the extremity of the plain.'

4 occulere apta, 'fit to conceal,' not a prose construction.

13—contd.

5 in medio, for the use of the neuter adj. as a noun, cf. ex alto, 4. 10.

8 victa, 'melted'; fluit, 'thaws.'

9 fertur, 'rushes'; cf. 7. 6.

12 metus alter, 'fear of any other foe.'

13 male creditis, 'you are unwise to trust.'

14. 3 quid faciant, deliberative subj., 'what are they to do?'

5 quod restet, consecutive, quod=tale ut. 'What resource have they left in the time of distress?'

6 fulmineo ore, 'with flashing tusks.'

8 alterna: what case?

11 Herculeae. The Fabii claimed descent from Hercules through Evander.

ut superessent, the clause stands as the object of consultisse (arranged, provided).

14 relictus erat, had been left at Rome.

15 Maxime. Quintus Fabius Maximus, surnamed Cunctator, 'delayer,' who by skilfully avoiding pitched battles with Hannibal wore out the Carthaginians.

16 cui, dat. of the agent with gerundive. cui=ut ei, final, hence the mood of foret.

res, 'the Roman state.' cunctando, 'by delaying.' Cf. the line in Ennius: unus homo nobis cunctando restituit rem.

15. Cephalus was a famous hunter, and Procris was his wife. Often when Cephalus was heated with the chase, he used to rest in a shady spot near Mt. Hymettus and to call the breeze to come and cool him. But some busybody (aliquis male sedulus), hearing him call, imagined that he was unfaithful to his wife, and hurried off to relate his suspicions to Procris. The unhappy wife then hid herself close to the spot where Cephalus used to rest. But when Cephalus came and, as was his wont, called to the breeze, Procris at once saw that she had no rival to fear and started from her hiding-place in order to throw herself into her husband's arms. Cephalus, thinking that some animal had moved in the bush, threw a javelin and killed his wife.

1 Hymettus, a mountain in Attica to the east of Athens. It was famous for its bees.

4 ros maris, 'rosemary' = rosmarinus or rosmarinum. It is a fragrant evergreen shrub which thrives best near the sea. The moisture which exudes from the under part of the leaf has the appearance of dew (ros).

6 culta pinus, the pinus hortensis, a garden shrub.

8 herba summa, 'the tops of the grass.'

9 quies, 'resting-place.'

16. 1 quae, relative with final force, hence the subj. releves.

3 male sedulus, 'mischievous busy-body.'

5 ut, 'when.' accepit, 'heard.'

6 excidit, 'she swooned.'

8 laesit, i.e. which the first frosts have nipped.

9 ut rediit animus, 'when her senses returned.' Notice the quantity of the final syllable of rediit. The 3rd sing. of Verbs was originally long.

10 indignas, which did not deserve to be so ill-used.

17. 1 nec mora, see note on 9. 11.

passis capillis, abl. of manner; passis from pando.

2 Baccha. The Bacchae were the female companions of Dionysus or Bacchus in his wanderings through the East.

thyrsus. The thyrsus was the staff borne by Bacchus and his followers. It was supposed to incite people to madness.

3 perventum est, sc. ab. illa, 'she arrived.' Cf. 10. 1. and 6. 1.

4 clam, adv. 'secretly.'

5 quid tibi mentis erat, 'what were your feelings?' 'mentis depends on quid.'

male sana, 'beside yourself,' 'frantic'; male is here equivalent to a negative; cf. patrias male fortis ad artes confugit, 'the coward.'

17—contd.

6 ardor, 'agitation.'

7 tenuēs, a proleptic use of the adj., which must be taken in close connection with contraxerat; cf. et necum plenos flore referte sinus, 5. 4.

9 silvis. In prose a preposition would be required.

Cyllenia proles, 'son of Mercury,' appos. to Cephalus. On the top of Cyllene, a high mountain in the Peloponnesus, was a temple sacred to Hermes (Mercury), who was said to have been born on the mountain.

13 patuit, 'was revealed to her.' miseræ, Procris. nominis error, 'mistake as to the name.'

18. 3 ratus, participle of reor.

artus corripit, a variation for se corripit, 'gets up hastily.'

6 me miserum, acc. of exclamation, cf. 7. 2.

7 ei mihi, an exclamation, 'ah me!' 'woe is me!'

8 hic locus, my heart.

9 ante diem, 'before my time,' 'prematurely.'

10 positæ, 'when laid to rest.'

11 nomine, 'by reason of the name.' Procris had thought that Aura was the name of some rival.

13 incauto pectore, because the death of Procris was due to her rashness.

19. Ariadne was the daughter of Minos, the King of Crete, for whom Daedalus constructed the famous labyrinth at Gnosus. In this labyrinth was kept the monster Minotaur, half-man and half-beast. Every year the king of Athens was compelled to send seven youths and seven maidens to be devoured by the Minotaur. When the victims landed in Crete, Ariadne fell in love with Theseus, the son of the Athenian king, and gave him a sword with which he killed the monster, and a clue of thread by which he found his way out of the labyrinth. Theseus escaped with Ariadne to Naxos and then deserted her. While Ariadne was wandering on the shore, she was found by Bacchus, who made her his wife, and placed among the stars the crown which was his wedding present to her. There is another story that Ariadne was killed in Naxos by Artemis.

19—contd.

1 Gnosis, 'the maid of Gnosus,' i.e., Ariadne. Gnosus was the royal city of Crete.

2 brevis Dia, 'the small island of Naxos.' Dia was the older name of Naxos.

3 ut erat, 'just as she was,' cf. consuetis ut erat comitata puellis, 4. 7.

e somno, 'fresh from sleep.'

4 nuda pedem, 'barefooted,' lit. 'bare as to the foot'; acc. of the part concerned, a poetic use of this case, so, inveligata comas, 'with her hair unbound.'

5 Thesea, Greek acc. clamabat, cf. 6. 11.

6 imbre, 'a flood of tears.'

Ovid seldom carries a construction through two couplets, but cf. 13. 7 etc.

7 utrumque, whether she cried aloud or wept, it was equally becoming to her.

8 turpior, 'less beautiful.'

10 quid mihi fiet, 'what will become of me?'

20. 1 toto litore, abl. of place. The omission of in with toto and totis is common in prose.

2 attonita, 'frenzied.'

3 excidit, 'swooned'; metu, abl. of cause.

rupit, 'uttered,' 'gave vent to'; cf. rumpit has imo pectore voces.

10 Cressa Corona, the northern crown, which was the crown of Ariadne transferred to heaven by Bacchus; also called Gnosia stella Coronae, Verg. Georg. i. 222. duxiam, will guide the sailor's bark when he is doubtful of his course; cf. dubiam rege, navita, puppem, 2. 9.

13 valebat, subj. 'she.'

14 in facili est = facile est. posse omnia, 'to be able to do everything.' posse is the subj. of est.

22. See introduction to 19. When Daedalus had finished the labyrinth and had shut up in it the Minotaur, he wished to return home. Minos, however, refused to let him go, and so Daedalus made wings for himself and his son, Icarus. Then they set off on their perilous journey. At first all went well until Icarus ventured too near the sun. The waxen fastenings of his wings soon melted and the boy fell into the sea. Daedalus himself escaped to Sicily.

1 ut, 'when.' matris, the mother of the Minotaur was Pasiphaë, the wife of Minos.

2 A clever way of saying that the Minotaur was half-man and half-bull.

3 sit, jussive subjunctive, 'let there be.'

iustissime, because Minos was not only king but law-giver of Crete. His grandfather, Minos, became after death one of the judges of the shades in Hades.

4 terra paterna. Daedalus was an Athenian.

22—cont'd.

6 sit, cf. sit in line 3. Here sit = liceat, 'let it be allowed.'

7 puero, Icarus.

senis, Daedalus refers to himself.

10 non dabat, 'would not grant.'

ille, Minos.

23. 1 sensit. Daedalus is the subject.

12 aequora, that part of the Aegean Sea which received its name—Icarium Mare—from the legend of Icarus.

27. 1 dic age, come, tell me, why is it that . . . ? dic is parenthetical, otherwise quare incipit would be quare incipiat, indirect question.

frigoribus, abl. of time when, 'in the cold season.'

2 melius, adv. per ter, 'in the course of spring.' incipiendus erat, 'should have been begun.'

5 modo with formatis, 'newly-formed.'

6 seminis herba, 'grass sprung from the seed.'

27--contd.

7 aëra, Greek acc. What does aëra mean? See 10. 4.

9 blandi, sc. sunt. Soles, 'sunny days.'

ignota, 'stranger'; why 'stranger'?

11 cultus. For the quantity of the final syllable, see 'Rules for Scansion,' 8 (d). Why can the word not be the past participle of colo?

12 haec, the subject; anni novitas, 'the new year' is the complement. Vocanda fuit, cf. incipiendus erat, line 2 above.

28. Saturnus was a mythical king of Italy. He derived his name from særo (sow), and was honoured as the god of agriculture and civilisation in general. His reign was regarded as the golden age of Italy.

1 quam, 'how.' Saturno rege, 'when Saturn was king'; Abl. absol.

3 pinus, 'ship.'

4 sinum, 'sail.' For the position of -que, cf. 6. 6.

5 compendia, 'gain,' 'profit.'

8 frenos. Frenum has plur. freni, or more rarely frena; cf. locus, plur. loci or loca; rastrum, rastri or rastra.

10 qui regeret, qui=ut is, final, hence the subjunctive ruget, 'define,' 'mark.'

lapis, 'boundary-stone.'

11 mella dabant, i.e. without the trouble of hiving the bees.

ultro, lit. 'to a place beyond'; then, 'voluntarily.'

12 securis, to the owners who were free from anxiety about their property.

14 duxerat, 'had fashioned.'

15 Jove sub domino, i.e. in the Iron Age. Saturnus was identified by the Romans with Cronos. According to the myth, he was deprived of the government of the world by his son Jupiter (Zeus).

With caedes and volnèra understand sunt.

16 multa via, 'many a way.'

29. During the siege of Ardea by the Roman army, Sextus Tarquinius (see 8) entertained at supper his two brothers, Titus and Aruns, and his cousin Tarquinius Collatinus, the husband of Lucretia. A dispute arose during the supper as to who had the best wife. At last Collatinus suggested that they should ride to Rome and see how their wives were behaving in their absence. They found the wife of Sextus feasting, and Lucretia among her maidens making a cloak for her husband.

1 Ardea, the capital of the Rutuli in Latium.

2 lentas obsidione moras, lit. 'slow delays by reason of the siege,' i.e. 'a tedious siege.'

3, 4 vacat, luditur, impersonal. 'While there is leisure, they play,' i.e. luditur a militibus, no one in particular, but all the soldiers; cf. longius itur, 6. 1.

socios; see Introduction.

6 rege creatus, lit. 'born from the king,' i.e. the king's son, Sextus. Rege is the abl. of origin which is used with natus, ortus, salus, and words meaning 'born from.'

9 ecquid, etc. 'Are our wives faithful?' torus socialis = coniugalis. Ecquid need not be translated.

10 i.e. do we occupy our wives' thoughts as much as they occupy ours?

11 studiis, abl. of cause.

30. 1 surgit cui dederat, 'then up rises he to whom Collatia had given . . .' L. Tarquinius, the son of Egerius, and great-nephew of Tarquinius Priscus, derived his surname Collatinus from the town Collatia, of which his father had been appointed governor. L. Tarquinius had shown great bravery in the capture of the town.

2 opus, 'need,' and usus, 'use,' take an abl. rebus, 'fact.'

3 Urbem, Rome.

7 coronis: garlands were worn at banquets by men and women.

8 posito mero, 'with wine set by her side.'

10 erat, agrees with the nearest subject.

11 data pensa trahebant, 'were spinning the wool allotted (lit. 'weighed') to them.'

31. 1 mittenda est, subj. lacerna in line 2.

lacerna, a cloak worn over the toga: it was commonly used in the army in Ovid's time, but unknown at the early period of which he writes.

- 3 plura, i.e. more than I hear.

- 4 esse super = superesse.

5 melioribus restas, 'you are resisting men stronger than yourself.' restas = resistis. melioribus, the Romans.

- 6 quae, 'inasmuch as you . . .'

- 7 sint tantum reduces, 'may they only return.'

- 8 temerarius ille est meus = ille meus est temerarius.

- 8 quolibet, adv.

- 12 for the position of -que, see 6. 6.

- 16 dulce onus, in appos. to the subj. illa.

- pendedit, form pendeo, intrans.

32. Lucretia, having been dishonoured by Sextus Tarquinius, resolved to kill herself. She sent for her father and her husband, to whom she told the shameful story. Then she stabbed herself with a dagger. L. Junius Brutus, who had come with Collatinus, snatched the dagger from the wound and swore to avenge her. He summoned the people and told them what had happened. The deed of shame filled all classes with indignation. Tarquinius and all his family were banished from Rome, and in the place of the last king, Collatinus and Brutus were elected as the first consuls, 509 B.C.

- 3 patrem, Lucretius; coninge, Collatinus.

- 5 habitum, 'her appearance,' 'sorry plight.'

- quae causa, sc. sit.

- 6 paret, why subj.?

- 8 more, 'after the manner of,' 'like.'

- 9 hinc . . . hinc, 'on this side . . . on that side.'

- 10 indicet, indirect request, ut being omitted.

11 caeco metu, abl. of cause. Caecus, 'hidden,' 'obscure,' i.e. not obvious. They did not know what it was that they were afraid of.

- 12 ideo, 'for all that,' although she tried again and again to speak.

33. 1 hoc quoque, 'this also,' i.e. the additional shame of having to tell the story of her dishonour.

3 restabant ultima, 'the worst yet remained untold.'

5 facta coactae, is a better reading than facto coacto, 'her deed as she had been forced.'

7 nec mora, see 9. 11.

9 honeste, 'decently.'

12 decoris, 'of what was becoming.'

34. 1 sua nomina. The word brutus means 'dull' or 'stupid.' Brutus pretended to be an idiot in order to avoid the jealousy of the Tarquins. fallit, 'belies': nomina=nomen, cf. tela=telum in line 2.

5 per tibi ego hunc, tibi and ego, emphatic pronouns, are placed between per and hunc. This is an order which is common in adjurations, and is no doubt borrowed from the Greek, πρὸς σὺ θεῶν; cf. Verg. Aen. iv. 314, per ego has lacrimas.

7 profuga, adj. agreeing with stirps, 'exiled.'

9 virtus, 'my own valour.'

10 parse the words in this line.

11 animi virilis, gen. of quality, which always has an adj. in agreement.

12 invidiam, 'hatred' of the Tarquins.

13 volnus inane, 'the gaping wound.'

Quirites, or technically, populus Romanus Quirinus, denoted the Roman citizens in their civil capacity: the word was never applied to soldiers.

14 regis, i.e. Tarquinius Superbus. His evil deeds are added to those of his son Sextus.

15 fugit, 'he banished,' 509 B.C. The anniversary of the banishment of the Tarquins was afterwards commemorated by a festival called the Regifugium.

16 iura, 'authority,' 'power.'

regnis, 'kingly power.'

35. Pure Iambic verse consists of six feet which are all Iambi (˘ –). The metre is often much modified, and it will be seen that in this piece spondees are freely used, as well as an occasional dactyl.

1 liberis, 'open.'

3 qui compesceret, qui=ut is, final.

6 The log was thrown down into the pool and made so loud a splash that the frogs were terrified.

8 una, sc. rana.

9 cunctas, sc. ranas.

10 certatim, they swim as fast as they can to the log.

13 misère = miserunt.

14 esset, 'since (as they said) he . . . was useless,' Virtual Oratio Obliqua. This construction does not affect qui datus fuerat, which simply describes the (suppressed) antecedent 'is.'

16 necem. Nex is used of a violent death.

36. Hercules was the son of Zeus (Jupiter) and Alcmene. He was compelled to perform twelve labours for Eurystheus, after which he was to become immortal. The Centaurs (the bull-slayers), of whom Chiron was the most famous, inhabited Thessaly, and it was to this country that Hercules came in pursuit of the Erymanthian boar.

1 Alcides, i.e. Hercules, as grandson of Alceus or Alcæus.

laborum. The twelve labours imposed upon him by Eurystheus.

3 Philyreus heros, Chiron, son of Philyra.

4 hic, 'the latter'; ille, 'the former.'

5 spoliū leonis. According to some writers the skin, which Hercules wore over his shoulders, was taken from the Nemean lion, which he slew by strangling it with his hands.

6 his armis, sc. dignus.

7 quā = quā-ne, by what not? quā being an old form of the ablative.

8 vellus, 'the lion's-skin.'

36—contd.

³⁶ Achilleae manus, 'the hands of Achilles. Achilles, when a outh, was instructed by Chiron in the art of healing.

⁹ senex, Chiron.

¹⁰ tela, the arrows which Hercules had dipped in the bile of the Lernaean Hydra.

¹² Haemonius puer, Achilles. Haemonius is equivalent to 'Thessalian.'

37. ¹ Pagasaëis, 'of Pagasae,' a city of Thessaly.
² temperat, the regular word for mixing anything in due proportion.

varia ope, 'with different remedies.'

⁴ pestis, 'the poison.'

Lernaeae Echidnae, the Lernaean Hydra. Lerne was a place in Argolis.

⁸ Peleus, the father of Achilles.

⁹ dedit, the subj. is Achilles. iacenti, Chiron.

¹¹ iustissime. Chiron was the wisest and justest of all the Centaurs.

¹² corpora cinctus eras. Here cingor retains the direct object and may be regarded as a reflexive verb; a usage which was suggested by the Greek middle voice.

Chiron was translated to the skies as Sagittarius, and became a constellation in which there were fifteen stars (owing to the exigencies of the metre 'his septem' is the number given by Ovid).

38. For the metre, see 35.

¹ inani, i.e. he had no merits to excuse his pride.

⁴ gregi, dat. of indirect object, governed by in-miscuit; cf. eripiunt pennas avi, 5, and pennas pavoni sustulit, 2.
